Patriotic Republicans unite because they place the welfare of the city above partisan advantage. Independents will be there, because it is their lities to "choose everywhere and at all times the best."

In character and numbers, in eloquence and enthusiasm, the meeting promises to be one of the most notable held in this city since the overthrow of the Tween Ring. It will voice the People's protest against Boss

ONLY A PUPPET.

The Evening Post of yesterday says:

In two short years this County Democracy, against Tammany's "despotic m" and " betrayal of trust for personal adre," has produced a Boss of its own, as le, as ignorant, and foolish, and self-seeking and corrupt, and ridiculous as any of Tammany's.

This is very true. But let us be fair even with Bosses. Maurice J. Power is but a part of the machine. He is Boss because the ne permits him to boss. But what of the driving wheels of the machine? Had Mr. HEWITT, representing the city Democracy, and Mr. WHITNEY, representing the National Democracy, opposed the nomination of FELLOWS, would it have been possible? Should Mr. HEWITT and Mr. WHITNEY demand the withdrawal of FELLOWS, as both public and party interests require, he would be off the ticket in twenty-four hours. The responsibility for this unfit nomination, and the responsibility for a blundering rsistence which means disaster, should be shifted from the shoulders of this one man Power and put where it belongs. A Boss even with a big "B" is often only a

This is the only question left open in the wass, except as to the size of Nicoll's ity, and the possible fate of the rest of smooratic County ticket. Mr. Nicola has now three nominations—the Republican, the Independent Democratic or People's and Irving Hall. His election is assured.

Col. FELLOWS cannot be deceived, if his eyes and ears are open. He must know that there is no possibility of his election. The Bosses who thrust him into this false position have nothing to lose by his sacrifice. The leaders are blind or nerveless. Why should he not look out for himself, and escape the humiliation of an overwhelming

" A WICKED MISTAKE."

The Staats-Zeitung, the ablest German paper in this country, and usually a stanch supporter of Democratic nominees, "draws the line at men of the character of FELLOWS."

The Democratic leaders, realizing that this portends the wholesale revolt of a large body of intelligent German voters, have frantically endeavored, by cabling to Mr. OTTEN-DORFER, to switch the Staats back into line. The response is prompt and unmistakable. It condemns the nomination of Fellows as 'a wicked mistake," and urges the election of NICOLL.

The Staats demands the withdrawal of FEL Lows. The conservative and powerful German element repudiates a candidate whose undimuted defects of character would furnish no guarantee that the office which he seeks would be honorably administered."

FELLows's nomination was indeed wicked mistake," and all the more wicked because made on purpose.

READY-MADE PORTUNES.

The wedding gift of $500,000 with which Mr. Joseph J. O'Donohuz gilds the honeymoon of his son illustrates the liberality of American fathers and the growth in favor here of an Old World marriage custom.

Yet it may well be doubted whether such munificent present would not be to most young couples a misfortune rather than a blessing. To find ready-made wealth on the threshold deprives the average young man of a most important part of his experience. It robs him of one powerful incentive to industry and usefulness.

The boys who have started poor, who have wrested success from adversity, have been of the greatest service to the world and to themselves. A young man of high aims, of exceptionally well-balanced mind and natural persistence may not be injured by riches thrust upon him. But for the majority, whether their parents are rich or poor, the experience of shifting for themselves is best.

If you would vote, see that you are registered.

THE PEOPLE HAVE EYES.

Col. FELLows, though the District-Attornev's office is overburdened with important criminal cases awaiting preparation and trial. says without reservation to the committee of Bosses: "I offer you my services throughout the campaign."

Mr. NICOLL has declared that under no circumstances will be permit campaign work to interfere with official duties intrusted to his charge.

It is ridiculous to say that the lawyer who simply sums up a case "handles the trial." This is like claiming that the spouting bo'swain handles the ship. The people know who managed the Boodle trials. The hatred of the Boodlers and their friends would point to MARTINE and NICOLL, if the facts were not patent.

Honest government will get a boom at the Cooper Institute to-night in the people's indorsement of NICOLL and MARTINE, the men who " made New York too hot for Boodlers."

It is a pity that the "wicked mistake" of the bosses in nominating NICOLL deprives the people of New York of an opportunity to listen to a speech from Gov. HILL.

Chandler said to-day: "It is true that arrangements were concluded yesterday, designed to put an end to the wasteful competition that has hitherto existed between the telegraph interests. It provides for equal rates up to twenty-five cents and somewhat lower rates by competing companies between distant points where the rates are higher than twenty-five cents.

"There has been no sale or lease or merging of properties in any form. Nor is there, so far as I know, any intention or desire on the part of the owners or managers of either of the properties looking in that direction. The Postal and United Lines companies are absolutely independent. They have never approved of the excessively low rates forced upon them by the fierce competition between the Baltimore and Ohio and the Western ern Union. greatest boon that ever came to the organization."

This editorial is understood to emanate from the pen of John W. Hayes, the Secretary of the General Executive Board. Philadelphia delegates who were supposed to be included in the thirty-five were shown the editorial and expressed their disapproval of it. Edward Moore, Master Workman of District Assembly 1, voiced their sentiments thus: "Calling people hard names is no argument, and to cry' Anarchists!" at people does not make them Anarchists. And, besides, I think that people who handled nearly half a million dollars of the order's money in a year and were unable to present an itemized account of it are not in a position to call anybody else names." As Mr. Gould has given no official information as to his intentions to the public, it was natural that all sorts of guesses and queries should be hazarded as to the real queries should be hazarded as to the real significance of the great stock operator's latest move, and a few were dis-posed to believe that he had some ulterior object to accomplish by his trip abroad than to obtain recreation and benefit his health. The general sentiment, however, seemed to be that Mr. Gould, feel-ing that he needed rest from his almost con-tinuous labors of the need few years had de-Pate of a Well-Known Boatman who Tried however, seemed to be that Mr. Gould, feeling that he needed rest from his almost continuous labors of the past few years, had determined to take the vacation which he has often said that he needed.

To a reporter of The Evening World Commodore A. E. Bateman, one of the most prominent operators in the Street, and known as an opponent of Mr. Gould in the market, said this morning:

"The announcement was not a surprise to the street. I for one have known that Gould has been getting his house in order for some time past, two years at least, in order to get away. He has transferred the control of the large corporations in which MEMPHIS, Oct. 28,-News of the destruction by fire of the stern-wheel steamer Alberta No. 3 was received in the city to-day. The accident occurred at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, near Indian Bay, Ark., on White some time past, two years at least, in order to get away. He has transferred the control of the large corporations in which he is interested to his son or his friends, and now has a finely organized crowd. His intention has been to arrange his affairs in such a manner so that he could enjoy the great fortune which he has accumulated for the remainder of his life."

"Do you think he is going out of the market altogether?"

"I think that is the general opinion of the street. He would take a supervisory interest in his properties, and he can do that in Europe as well as he can here, possessing all the cable facilities necessary, but as for speculating, I believe he is out of it."

"Then you do not believe his trip has any special significance, either financial or otherwise?" River, seventy-four miles from the mouth and 252 miles, by the river, from this port, The steamer was on her way from Newport to Memphis, and had on board 572 bales of cotton and many tons of cotton-seed, all of which were consigned to the merchants and which were consigned to the merchants and oil mills in this city.

The fire, the origin of which is unknown, was discovered on the lower deck among the cotton bales. The alarm was sounded. The crew responded promptly and soon had several streams playing on the flames. But it was useless. The fire had already gained a good headway and every moment the fire grew in intensity, and though the officers had fought hard they were finally forced to abandon the steamer.

All reached shore safely save Capt. William Gibbs, the chief clerk, who was caught in the cabin, while striving to save the books and was unable to escape. Capt. Gibbs was about sixty years of age and had been a steamboat man nearly all his life. He was well known on the upper White and Black Bivers, where he had many friends.

sence will not have a great influence on the market one way or the other."

In the opinion of Henry Clews Mr. Gould's absence will be a benefit to speculative interests, for he believes that as the former does not intend to engage in any important deals while abroad, his absence will be the slimination of a very dangerous element of disturbance from the local market, and that the course of speculation during the element of disturbance from the local market, and that the course of speculation during the next few months will in consequence favor operators on the bull side of the market.

Another well-known authority on Wall street matters, asserted that Mr. Gould was going abroad principally for his health, he thought he was going to try and list his Western Union on the London Stock Exchange, but this yiew was strongly combated by another. MACON, Ga., Oct. 28 .- The city is alive with ex-Confederate soldiery, thousands of whom the London Stock Exchange, but this view was strongly combated by another, who said that Mr. Gould would be the last man to personally undertake a matter of this kind, for if any representations were to be made about his telegraphic proper-ties he would prefer to have it done by others than himself. It was suggested that per-haps he might be intending to make some political combination with the Maine statesman who is now wandering of Confederate veterans. The presence of the ex-President of the Confederacy has sion, which since Wednesday has been un-and George R. Gibson, a prominent dealer, both thought that Mr. Gould would retain his interest in the market sufficient to keep an eye on his specialties, but that his movements abroad were a matter of indifference to the public.

As the representative of a prominent firm said this morning, the real reason of Mr. Gould's departure is to secure rest. Ever since the Woerishofter and Smith warfare against him he has been in hot water, and the tremendous pressure both of debt and responsibility which has been upon him in the interval, of which the public has known but little, has shattered his nervous system, and he is actually afraid of mental prostration. Several recent attacks have frightened him, and actually have hastened on his departure, which he has been contemplating for two years.

It is said that some of the younger brokers in the "street" are jubilant over Mr. Gould's departure, which they regard as a godsend to the market that they have chartered three German bands of full-test wind-power to be present at the wharf. Narth Kiver, of the Umbris to-morrow afternoon at
